Girgaian is a traditional family celebration. It's a celebration for children on the 13th, 14th and 15th of the Holy Month of Ramadan. The same celebration is found in some other Gulf countries, but with different names. During these three days, children wear traditional clothes and walk around the neighbourhood. They knock on doors. They sing special songs about Girgaian. After singing, parents give children candies and coins. The more they sing, the more candies and coins they get.
