One day, a poor man, who had only one piece of bread to eat, was walking past a restaurant. There was a large pot of soup on the table. The poor man held his bread over the soup, so the vapour from the soup went into the bread, and gave it a good smell. Then he ate the bread.

The restaurant owner was very angry at this, and he asked the man for money, for the vapour from the soup. The humble man had no money, so the restaurant owner took him to Nasr Alddin's palace, who was the governor at that time. Nasr Alddin thought about the case for a little while.

Then he took some money from his pocket. He held the coins next to the restaurant owner's ear, and moved them, so that they made a ringing noise.

"What was that?" asked the restaurant owner.

"That was the payment for you," answered Nasr Alddin.

"What do you mean? That was just the sound of coins!" said the restaurant owner angrily.

"The sound of the coins is payment for the smell of the soup," answered Nasr Alddin. "Now go back to your restaurant."
