VI- Reading Comprehension (110 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions below:

Many things we use every day to go from place-to-place move on wheels. For example, the bus, the motorbike, the car and many other vehicles move on wheels. One of the things that move on wheels is the bicycle. Bicycles are important for both young people and grown-ups. People use them for fun, exercise and work all over the world.

The history of the bike is interesting. In 1818, the bicycle had no pedals. They were added in 1839. The pedals made bicycles move faster than the old ones. More speed was possible by making the front wheel much larger than the back wheel. But such bicycles were dangerous to ride. By 1900, most of the bicycle parts that we know today had been developed. They included equal-sized wheels, brakes to stop the bike and a chain connecting the pedals to the back wheel to transfer the movement.

Using the bike to go to school is a clean way of moving around. Unlike other means of transport, the bike doesn't use petrol. This means that the bike keeps the air clean. It also doesn't take a lot of space to park. This is why in some big cities of the world, people can only ride bicycles.

A). From a, b, c and d choose the right answer: ( 5X 10= 50 marks)

VII- Summary Making (60 Marks)

Read the following passage, then do as required:

At an early stage of life, a child can show the career he is going to take up in the future. An observant father can easily foretell which of his sons is going to be surgeon and who is going to be an engineer, craftsman or a teacher. The way a child practices thing shows his skills and it would be clear through their games and toys.

Parents have an important role to play in shaping their children's characters and modifying their manners. Through a gentle touch, a loving smile, a toy or even a word of praise for good behavior, children can be encouraged to do what is proper and acceptable. On the other hand, just a word of reproach, an angry look or a slight sort of punishment on the spot for misbehavior can teach our kids to distinguish between what is right and what is wrong.

Reading Comprehension ( 110 marks )*A. Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Doctors say that there are several kinds of headaches. Each kind begins in a different place and needs different treatment. Some of these headaches start with a change in vision or sight. The person sees wavy lines, black dot, or white spots in front of the eyes. This is a warning that a headache is coming. The headache occurs on only one side of the head. The vision is blurred and the person may vomit from the pain. These headaches are called the migraine headaches. They are more frequent in women than men. Sleep is the best cure for them

Cluster headaches, which also start in the arteries, are called cluster headaches because they come in clusters or groups. A cluster headache lasts only for two hours and then goes away. At the beginning of the cluster headache, the eyes become red and watery. There is a steady pain in the head. Men have more cluster headaches than women do.

The muscle headache, which starts in the muscles in the neck or forehead, is caused by tension. When the person becomes nervous about something, or has problems at work, or at school, or at home, the neck and head muscles become tense and the headache starts. A muscle headache usually starts in the morning and gets worse as the hours pass. There is a steady pain, pressure and a bursting feeling. Usually, aspirin doesn't help a muscle very much.

How do doctors treat headaches? If a person has frequent headaches, the doctor first has to decide what kind they are. Medicine can help, but there are other ways to treat them. The doctor asks the patient to analyze his or her daily living patterns. A change in diet, or an increase in exercise might stop the headaches. If the patient realizes that difficulties at home, or at work, or at school are causing the tension, it might be possible to make changes and decrease these problems. Psychological problems and even medicine for another physical problem can cause headache. The doctor has to discuss and analyze all these patterns of the patient's life. A headache can be also a signal of a more serious problem. So, patient should realize that there is no magic cure for headaches, but doctors can control most of them.

From a, b, c and d, choose the correct answer: (5x10 = 50 Marks)*8 -The best title for this passage is:

- a- Dangerous and Fatal Headaches                      b- Researches about Headaches

VII- Summary Making (60 Marks)

Read the following passage, then do as required :

Illegal immigration is a big problem for some countries. To prevent it, certain measurements can be applied. Creating more job opportunities in the immigrants' home countries is a good way. If migrants can find jobs at home they will have no reason to immigrate. Also, people need to be warned against illegal immigration before they leave their home countries. If more people are aware about the risks, maybe fewer will break the law. Setting penalties to illegal immigration is also important. The immigrants, though, are not the only ones who need to be punished. Smugglers, who transport immigrants into a country illegally need to be punished too. Finally, provide a way for immigrants to return to their home countries. To apply this solution, governments could establish phone numbers where immigrants can call for help in returning to their countries .

VI- Reading Comprehension (110 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Our world was a lot different just a few decades ago. People spent more time outdoors. But today, video games and hundreds of TV channels often compete with walking in the park or planting a garden. Safety fears, pollution, and limited green spaces in cities also keep many people indoors.

Young people now spend about six hours a day in front of a TV or a computer and less than four minutes playing outdoors. That statistic comes from the U.S. Department of the Interior, an agency that manages many of the nation's parks. Not that technology is bad—but it is not healthy for the mind and the body when time spent on technology replaces outdoor time, says Dr. Daphne Miller, a family doctor who also teaches medicine at the University of California, San Francisco.

Many health experts call the problem of kids not spending enough time outdoors “nature deficit disorder.” Scientific studies support the claims that a nature deficit can harm the mind and the body, and some health experts have started calling green time “vitamin G.” Kids who don't get outdoors much are more likely to have attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) and depression. They also tend to have trouble in school. Doctors believe that is because being outdoors stimulates the mind more than sitting around indoors. Even those who usually spend a lot of time outdoors notice a difference when they don't get enough green time.

Studies by Cornell University environmental psychologist Nancy Wells show that kids who have easy access to nature areas cope with stress better. They adapt faster when they move to a new place, and fight less with family members. The studies also indicate that kids who move to places with more green space do better at school and that spending time outside helps improve symptoms for kids with depression and ADHD.

The U.S. government launched the America's Great Outdoors programmes to help make more outdoor spaces and activities safe and accessible to all. Those programmes are encouraging people to try fun outdoor activities such as hiking and swimming at parks, beaches, forests, and farms. According to America's Great Outdoors, Americans report better health, greater happiness, and more quality family time when they get more green time.

Doctors have started giving their patients a dose of vitamin G. Dr. Miller writes “park prescriptions” for her patients because, she says, “being outdoors is good for your health.” She finds that when she gives patients prescriptions, they tend to accept them willingly. Her prescriptions tell people exactly where to go, how often, and how long to stay active.

VII- Summary Making (60 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the question below:

It is well known that some cultures prefer sons to daughters. Sons are wanted because they can work to help the family earn income. Also, sons will be able to support their parents when the parents are old. In some countries, sons are important because the family name will continue for another generation. This is because the wife in these cultures take her husband's family name, and sometimes belongs to the husband's family. Not only that, but having a daughter can sometimes cause difficulty for the family. In India, for example, having a daughter can be a burden. Families must save a lot of money to pay a dowry when the girl gets married. According to a survey done in 2000, people in some developed countries would prefer to have daughters. Researchers said that parents in these societies do not have the same economic reasons that exist in other countries, so they do not need to have a son to help make money.

VI- Reading Comprehension (110 marks)

Read the following passage and answer the questions below:

Aileen Riggins was born in 1906. Her father was in the navy serving in Philippines. There, she learned to swim at age 6. Around age 11, as she recovered from the flu, her doctor recommended swimming to rebuild her strength. Diving became one of her favourite activities. At that time, many people feared diving as it was too dangerous for women and girls. So, most indoor swimming pools would not let Aileen practise her lovable sport. Aileen decided to find other ways to practice her favourite sport. She joined the U.S Olympic trials. She used an outdoor tide pool; where ocean water gathered between rocks. Female divers dived there. They had to wait for the high tide to practise diving. When conditions were perfect, the tide pool was just like a real swimming pool!

At age 14 Aileen qualified for the 1920 U.S Olympic diving and swim team. Thanks to her qualification, she was able to travel around the world. On the 13-day journey to Belgium, Aileen practised swimming in a small swimming pool to be physically prepared for the competitions. Conditions at the Olympic Games were not much better since Belgium was still recovering from World War I. The outdoor pools were so muddy, Aileen was afraid that when she dived in, she would get stuck at the bottom forever. During the competition, she overcame her fears and won the gold medal in diving! She became the youngest Olympic gold medalist of her time at age 14.

At the 1924 Olympics in Paris, Aileen again competed in both swimming and diving. She won a silver medal for the 3 metre-springboard event and a bronze medal in the 100 metre-backstroke competition, making her the first person to earn medals in both diving and swimming in the same Olympic year.

Aileen made films, performed all over the world, and later became a sportswriter and she never stopped swimming. At age 85, she broke six world records for her group at the World Masters Swimming Championships. She continued to swim well into her nineties. Up to her death at age 96, she was the oldest living female Olympic medalist.

VII- Summary Making (60 Ms)

Read the following passage carefully, then do as required:

almanahj.com/kw

There are many reasons why we want to achieve success. Success is strongly related to our life plans. Achieving some milestones like graduating or getting a desired job brings us positive feelings.

In addition, in many cases we want to experience benefits related with the achievement of a certain goal. This makes our success desirable and enjoyable. We shouldn't also forget that achieving success adds value to us. It is deep in our nature that we love the taste of winning. Furthermore, we all make mistakes which raise a strong force that will push us towards further goals. We lost, but in the end, we want to win. This victory can make up for all previous unpleasant experiences and failure.
